We always like those people who are kind to dogs and horses.

The more trifling the man the more patent pencils and fountain pens he seems to carry around in his vest pockets.

About the only thing some people are able to save are trading stamps, cigar coupons and tinfoil.

A man could be sure about liking his wife's new gown if he knew what it cost.

When some people pay a compliment they act as though they wanted a receipt for it.

The candidate of the future will perhaps declare that he started life as a pedestrian.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

GRAYLING LOSES GOOD CITIZEN

JAMES ARMSTRONG PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY FRIDAY MORNING

In the sudden passing of James Armstrong at his home early Friday morning, Grayling lost one of its most highly respected and worthy citizens. Mr. Armstrong had been in ill health the past couple of months suffering with heart trouble and previously had suffered two acute attacks. It having always been his custom to rise early in the morning he was up and dressed at 5:30 o'clock and had walked into the kitchen of his home where he was stricken and life had fled before his daughter Ferné could get to him.

Mr. Armstrong was born in Beverly, Canada, April 9, 1892. He came to Michigan when he was fifteen years old and his parents settled in the Thumb district. Some time later he went to Ausable which was when the lumbering industry was carried on extensively there, and for a time also made his headquarters at Oscoda. He had always been employed in the mills as sawyer and was most efficient in his line. From Oscoda, Mr. Armstrong went to Lewistown, which was also a thriving lumbering town at that time and here on October 12, 1898 he was married to Miss Pauline Colladay; to them one daughter Ferné was born. The family moved to Grayling from Lewistown Nov. 10, 1910 and October 27th of the following year Mrs. Armstrong passed away. From that time Mr. Armstrong and daughter and Mrs. Armstrong's mother, Mrs. Mary Colladay, had made their home together.

Mr. Armstrong was employed by Salling Hanson Company from the time he came to Grayling until the Company quit business, the middle of last year, when he also retired from his laboring. He was always considered one of Grayling's most substantial and worthy citizens. He bore a reputation of utmost integrity, and by his dignified and friendly manner gained a large circle of real friends. He was a member of Grayling Lodge P. & A. M. and was one of its most devoted members and was also a member of the local M. E. church and took an active interest in the church's affairs.

The great abundance of flowers that literally smothered the casket and filled the room with their fragrance gave silent eloquence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by his friends and fellow townsmen. The funeral was held Monday afternoon with brief services at the home, followed by services at the Methodist Memorial church, where a large crowd of friends had congregated to pay their respects to the deceased. Rev. J. Wilfred Greenwood spoke from the text Phil. 3:10, "That I may know him in the power of his resurrection and fellowship of his sufferings." Mrs. Roy Milnes beautifully sang "Crossing the Bar" and "Lead, on, O Lord, shown of the military review at Camp Grayling." During the services Mrs. C. G. Thursday afternoon the club will visit the funeral home where a musical cemetery and burial services were in program will be given under the charge of Grayling Lodge No. 356 F. direction of Mrs. C. G. Clippert.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wood of Bay City were guests of the latter's mother, Mrs. Ellen Palling, from Wednesday to Sunday. They had with them Mr. and Mrs. Earl Northrop and son Earl of Bay City and while here the gentlemen enjoyed hunting deer and Mr. Northrop went home with his license filled.

Howard A. Killen of Detroit, dealer in drug sundries, who came to Grayling for the deer hunting season was taken with an acute attack of appendicitis and it was necessary for him to undergo an operation at once. The operation was performed at St. Joseph Hospital Friday night and Mr. Killen is getting along nicely.

Edward Sterner, a plumber of Flint, was accidentally shot Monday near Mud Lake while deer hunting, by William Woolman of Berville, Michigan, who mistook him for a deer. Mr. Sterner's injuries were very serious and at first it was thought he would not recover, however his condition is very good at this time.

GOODFELLOWSHIP CLUB NOTES

Mrs. H. A. Baumann was hostess to the Goodfellowship Club on Tuesday afternoon. After the business session was over the members listened to a very interesting talk on cotton, the cotton in the raw state being shown. The article was given by Mrs. Ernest Larsen. The club spent the remainder of the afternoon hemming. A very tasty lunch was served following which movies were shown. "Crossing the Bar" and "Lead, on, O Lord," shown of the military review at Camp Grayling. During the afternoon the club will visit the funeral home where a musical cemetery and burial services were in program will be given under the charge of Grayling Lodge No. 356 F. direction of Mrs. C. G. Clippert.

A "used car" is unused transportation

A GOOD automobile is built to stand years of use. It will provide many thousands of miles of satisfactory transportation.

But only occasionally are all its years and all its mileage used up by one owner. Many owners turn their cars in after an average use of only two to three years—long before the cars' lives have been exhausted.

This custom brings into the market every year so-called "used" cars which represent outstanding opportunities to buy unused transportation at low cost.

Every year more and more people appreciate this fact. Today millions of families are driving cars of which they are the second or third or even fourth owners; and this year the volume of new car sales and trade-in transactions has created wider choices and greater values in unused transportation than ever before.

3 out of 5 buy used cars

THREE out of five of the cars you see on the road have been purchased as "used" cars. You cannot tell—nor do you ask yourself—whether the driver of any particular car is its first owner, or its second or its third, providing the car looks well and is running satisfactorily.

The cars which General Motors dealers have accepted in trade vary in name, body style and price. Some have seen sturdy service; in others the potential mileage has scarcely been touched. And all offer a wide field of opportunities.

- To the family wanting transportation at lowest possible cost.
- To the family wishing to own a car of a higher price class.
- To the family needing a second or third car to meet the requirements of all its members.

We invite you to examine the unused transportation in the stores of General Motors dealers. For your convenience General Motors extends the GMAC Purchase Plan.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

J. S. Harrington lost two valuable enlighten the minds of some of our boys last week, by some strange disorder.

W. Stewart, ex-supervisor of Beaver Creek had the misfortune of losing his last cow last week.

Mrs. Wm. Woodfield went to Bay City, Monday, for a few days visit with her daughter Ethred.

Village marshal Nolan mourns the loss of his pet cow last week, from some cause unknown.

Seven of our foot ball enthusiasts went to Ann Arbor to witness the great game last Saturday.

Wm. B. Woodburn has accepted a position in a hardware store in Bay City and began work there this week.

Rev. A. C. Kildegaard will give a Bible-Historical lecture at the Danish-Lutheran church every Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The Ladies of the Catholic church society cleared over a hundred dollars from their chicken pie supper at the opera house last week.

Jens P. Jensen was out for his Sunday hunt, and carelessly blew two fingers from his left hand. He would have preferred a couple of birds.

Judge Batterson and E. Flagg were down from Frederic Saturday evening to hear Col. Loud's lecture and were present at the banquet in the evening.

Probate Judge Batterson, of Frederic, has been delivering seed corn here of yellow film variety, raised by him this year, which is good enough for Dakota or any of the corn states.

Will Woodburn of Maple Forest was here on a visit to his grandfather last week, the first time for a long while. He has grown from a kid to a young man since we had met him.

The Crawford Avalanche, of Grayling, completed the 27th year of its existence last week. For the past 23 years it has been owned by Dr. O. Palmer, who took it after four others had given up the fight, and has made it one of the best local papers in Northern Michigan. May it live long and prosper.—Tawas Herald.

If every state will pass a law prohibiting the killing of quail for five years the supply of bugs and noxious weeds would greatly decrease. Such laws would be worth much to farmers. Quails should be regarded and treated as domestic fowl instead of wild game.

H. Funk of South Branch, brought in a nice sample of dent corn this week, which was 10 feet high and well eared with as fine corn as we ever saw. He is highly pleased with it, and though he will not risk his main crop with so large a variety, will continue to plant some of it, in the hope that it will get acclimated so it will be safe.

The Crawford Avalanche, well known in the field of pioneer journalism in northern Michigan, has just passed the 27th milestone. The Record is a few months its senior. The Avalanche has been under the management of O. Palmer, the lawyer-doctor-editor, nearly 24 years, and seems to grow in vigor as the years go by. Success to the Avalanche and grand old man who controls its destinies.—Gladwin Record.

Painters are at work on the new building.

At the meeting of the school board Monday night appropriation was made for a new encyclopedia, the Americana, the best on the market. It will soon replace the ancient volumes now on our book shelves.

A fine new line of chemicals and laboratory apparatus will be at our service when the building is completed. What our school needs more than anything else is a basement laboratory with modern equipment.

At present we are almost destitute in this line. We appreciate the liberality of our school board, but still believe that "to him who hath" more should be given.

APPROACHING

Advertisements are beginning to appear with decorations of holly and mistletoe and smiling faces of Santa Claus.

In the observant these advertisements tell their own story, give their own warning, hint at the important business from which none is barred and in which sooner or later everybody will be engaged.

In other words, Christmas shopping. The holiday is little more than a month ahead. Flower shopping days than fifty by a good deal. In no time these days will pass.

The natural procrastinator will wait until Christmas Eve, when store shelves will be jammed by other procrastinators, stocks picked out, clerks weary, customers in a flutter, clocks ticking time's rapid pace, all because the reminders of today have been neglected.

Many more sensible persons do their Christmas shopping early. They reap all the advantages in variety of selection and leisure of choice and when Christmas comes they can proceed about their last-minute holiday tasks orderly, while the others fume and sputter.

Americans are a great people never to do today what can be done tomorrow. The postmaster has urged early posting of Christmas mail, but the last days will probably be bigger than ever. The train leaves at 5:15 but the cars do not fill until 5:14. We get there even if we are a last-minute nation, but it is at a tremendous cost of physical energy and mental upsets.

The Christmas shopping season is merely one phase of a national temperament.

THRIFT SOURCE OF GREATEST HAPPINESS AS IT BRINGS PROGRESS AND SUCCESS

(By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift.)

"The thought suddenly came to me one day that I was just drifting along from year to year without anything to show for my hard work."

How many people there are in the world who have had this same thought! Some of them have been brought to their senses by these reflections; others have just continued to drift.

Here are the words of one drifter who came to a realization of his plight and, while his fruitful years were still upon him, turned to the pathway of thrift.

"I read an article in a newspaper which set me thinking," he said. "I was confronted with the terrible thought that I was wasting the best years of my life without making any provision whatever for the future—without getting ahead. So I determined then and there to begin saving money. I found it hard at first. It is always difficult to change fixed habits in life. But after my savings began to grow I found it easier to deny myself the things I had grown accustomed to."

"It took my wife and I three years to save $1000. Out of this we bought a lot and built a home. While we had to go in debt we were able to manage the payments and, owing to the growth of our little city, the land was constantly enhancing in value."

"My practices of thrift have revolutionized my life. I feel more self-respect, more self-confidence, and I am happier than ever was the case before I began saving money. Furthermore, I realize that I have a different mental viewpoint. I feel that I am more ambitious to save than I was before."

"I am more ambitious to save than I was before. I am more ambitious to save than I was before. I am more ambitious to save than I was before."

"I am more ambitious to save than I was before. I am more ambitious to save than I was before. I am more ambitious to save than I was before."

"I am more ambitious to save than I was before. I am more ambitious to save than I was before. I am more ambitious to save than I was before."

THE COUNTRY CHURCH

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

The old country church was standing by the roadside deserted, as we rode by it. A few gravestones were standing a few and crumbling from the effects of frost and rain in the enclosure at the back of the structure. The fence which had once kept out marauding animals was falling into decay. The church itself was weather beaten, unpainted for years, its windows broken and its roof torn and open to the rain. It was a sorry sight that met our eyes.

And yet at one time the old church was the center of rural activity. Services were held in it every Sunday—sometimes even twice on Sunday and the sermons were long. It was a gathering place for social contacts, though many of those who attended its weekly services would have resented the suggestion that they were there exercising religious worship of God.

Children, young people, and old people, young people were married in it, every winter, no doubt, religious enthusiasm was stirred, and indifference members were brought back through the instrumentality of the revival meeting. At week-ends some rural vocalists organized a singing school and the neighborhood young people gathered to their services, and so much because they wanted their voices trained, perhaps, as because it gave them an opportunity to be together. Friends gathered in the old church to pay a last tribute to the dead before they found their last resting place in the church yard in the rear. I have no recollection that anyone, no matter how agnostic in life he might have been, was ever consigned to his grave without some simple service being conducted in the neighborhood church. It would have been unseemly to have done otherwise.

But that is all a thing of the past today, and the old church stands abandoned and its purpose almost forgotten. There were four country churches in the community in which I first lived; for dogma was a vital thing then, and the Baptists had no dealings with the Presbyterians, but not one of these churches is in existence today. They are torn down or turned into barns or dwelling houses. They are no more centers of activity, religious or social.

Communities lose something by the loss of their churches. In an absence of unity within a community, a neighborhood together. There is not so much friendliness or exchange of courtesies as there once was. Neighbors know each other less intimately and cooperate less freely than in the old days when the country church brought them regularly together.

There is more effort, no doubt, more opportunity for amusement and entertainment in the nearby town, life has in it more thrill and more excitement, but I never see the old country church without wishing that in this regard, the old friendly days could come back again.

His Rheumatism Vanished After He Got Konjola

Says This New Medicine Relieved Every Ache And Pain In His Body

"I have tried for so long to find a treatment or medicine that would relieve me of the rheumatism I suffered for years that I felt my advanced age was against me and that I would never be entirely free of this dreadful ailment," said Mr. James Monroe, Route No. 1, East Lansing, Mich.

"Most of the time it was almost impossible for me to get around. My knees and ankles were swollen and the pain was so great that I could hardly sleep at night. My kidneys were also giving me a lot of trouble and caused sharp pains across the small of my back. I heard so much about Konjola that I decided to give it a trial. The relief this medicine gave me was really surprising. By the time I finished the treatment, every ache and pain in my body was gone and my kidneys were in good working order. Now I have new strength and energy and my health in general is greatly improved."

Konjola is sold in Grayling, Mich., at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Department of Conservation

Lansing, Michigan, October 15, 1923.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That the following abandoned tax lands situate in the county of Crawford, this State, deemed to be the State by the Auditor General under the provisions of Sec. 127 of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1893 and amendments thereto, have been withdrawn from homestead entry by the Auditor General and the Director of Conservation acting jointly, under the provisions of Sec. 131 of Act 206, Public Acts of 1893, as amended by Act 355 of the Public Acts of 1922, examined and appraised, and will be placed in market by offering the same for sale at a Public Offering to be held at this office, Room 304, State Office Building, City of Lansing, on Tuesday, the 27th day of November, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at which time the land will become subject to purchase in the manner prescribed by law.

In the event of a sale the deed by which the land will be conveyed to a purchaser will contain a clause reserving to the State of Michigan all rights in any mineral, coal, oil or gas found lying or being on, within or under the said lands, and also reserving to the People of the State of Michigan the rights of ingress and egress over and across any of said lands lying along any watercourse or stream as required by Section 456 of the Compiled Laws of 1915.

A Charming Coat

Alice White, whose coats are as varied as they are charming, is seen wearing a model of extreme chic and newness in the film "Ritzky Rossy."

Miss White has selected one coat, that always popular choice, black velvet and chicness. It is a model of great charm that expresses youth and individuality in line, color and detail.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

In the Probate Court for the County of Crawford,

At a session of said court held at the Probate Office in the Village of Grayling, on the 12th day of November, in the year one thousand nine hundred and twenty-eight;

Present: Hon. George Sorenson, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Rasmus Hanson, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition, duly verified, of The Second National Bank of Saginaw, by Harry Short, Vice President, and Esbern Hanson and Oscar Hanson, praying that their first annual account as executors of the estate of said deceased may be examined and allowed by this Court.

It is ordered, that Wednesday, the twelfth day of December, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate Office, be appointed for hearing said petition, examining said account and, if found correct, allowing the same.

And it is further ordered, that a copy of this order be published three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing in the Crawford Avalanche, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Crawford.

GEORGE SORENSON, Judge of Probate.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Ship and Crew Blamed for the Loss of Life in the Vestris Disaster

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

ONE hundred and eleven persons, of whom forty-three were women and children, perished when the Lamport & Holt liner Vestris sank about 20 miles off the Virginia coast. The rescued were 215 in number and were picked up by vessels summoned by the S O S call of the radio operator on the Vestris. Who, if anybody, was to blame for the terrible loss of life was to be determined by official investigation. Many of the survivors were certain that the captain, William Carey, was responsible for it. He went down with his vessel and cannot defend himself. The stories told by the rescued passengers agree that the ship was in evident peril Sunday night and that Captain Carey delayed the sending of calls for help until ten o'clock Monday morning, presumably hoping to save salvage fees, which are heavy. Though the Vestris was inspected at New York on November 7 it is asserted she sailed with some of her life boats and lowering davits in poor condition and that none of the boats were sufficiently equipped with oars, provisions, etc. Before she got far from port a heavy list developed, and the cargo shifted when heavy seas broke through one of the coaling ports.

When the captain finally did send out the S O S call it was answered immediately by several vessels, including the American ship, the French tanker Myram and the North German Lloyd liner Berlin. The latter, Wyoming and five coast guard vessels also were rushed to the scene. But hours before the first of these arrived the Vestris had rolled over and gone to the bottom. Almost at the last minute the passengers and crew took to the boats, but some of these boats were smashed and others upset. The old rule of the sea, women and children first, was observed, but only ten of the thirty-three women survived and all of the twenty children perished. Twenty-one bodies of the dead were recovered. Captain Carey was said at the London offices of the steamship company to have been an experienced seaman with an excellent record. Sailing with the ship and dying with the captain was M. J. O'Loughlin, the radio operator.

Six members of the flying school squadron at San Antonio, Texas, were killed when an army transport plane crashed. The right wing and tail piece of the plane broke off at an altitude of 3,000 feet and it plunged into a tuff spin. The men killed were all in the cabin of the plane and had no chance. The pilot and another man, who were in the front seat, were thrown out and landed with parachutes.

MOUNT DIANA continued down toward the end of the week and it was believed the eruption was nearing its end. The river of molten lava was beginning to solidify and its advance was much slower, but it still was menacing several towns. Officials of the Fascist government were most efficient in evacuating and assisting the refugees, all of whom were provided with shelter and food. Ample funds were voted by the council of ministers. The work of reconstruction already is being planned, among the first things being the building of new transportation routes around the fresh lava deposits. The total damage is estimated at $9,000,000. Three towns were ruined, two railroads cut and partly submerged and many hundreds of acres of lemon groves and vineyards destroyed. Very few lives were lost for the inhabitants had ample warning.

PRESIDENT-ELECT HERBERT HOOVER is on his way southward aboard the battleship Maryland, and all of Latin America is getting ready to welcome him on his good-will tour. It was decided that the first port of call should be Corinto, Nicaragua, where he would be met by President Diaz and would have an opportunity to indicate the policy his administration will pursue in dealing with situations similar to that which arose in Nicaragua and which resulted in the policy of the country by American marines. From there on the tentative program calls for stops at Balboa, Canal Zone, Callao, Peru and Valparaiso, Chile. The governments of Colombia, Ecuador and Bolivia also asked that Mr. Hoover visit those countries.

The President-elect is accompanied on his tour by Mrs. Hoover and their son, Allan. The others in the official party are Henry P. Fletcher, American ambassador to Rome, representing the State department; George A. Brown, secretary to Mr. Hoover; George Barr Baker of New York, a personal friend; Commander Augustin T. Bearreghat, United States naval aid to the President-elect, and a force of four clerks and interpreters.

Before leaving Palo Alto, Mr. Hoover made it known that he had not discussed his cabinet appointments with anyone and would do nothing in the matter until his return. In January, William J. Donovan, assistant attorney general of the United States, spent several days at the Hoover home and at once it was rumored that he would be given the post of attorney general.

In a letter written for the Manufacturers Record, Mr. Hoover expressed his profound appreciation of the heavy toll given him by the Southern states and promised that he would give that section of the country all the help he could in the way of food control and development of an inter-continental canal system and hydro-electric power.

THE PRESIDENT COOLIDGE'S Analyses of the situation in Washington, D. C., and the government, mostly to the effect that the government is making a admirable appeal for the construction of additional cruisers for our navy, and then passed to a review of American relations since the war, giving Europe notice of changes in our foreign policy. He took America's former allies to task for their criticism of this country, announced a tightening of American purse strings on loans to Europe, placed the blame for the failure of the Geneva three-power conference and the efforts to attain cruiser limitation squarely upon the selfishness of England and other European nations.

The French press didn't especially like the President's remarks; and in London Lord Birkenhead in a banquet speech said: "My answer to the President of the United States would be that we ask nothing from them except good will. When we discuss questions of naval construction we do not invite lectures as to whether we are pacific or not. When America claimed the right to build a certain number of cruisers our answer was: 'We agree. Let them build as many as they like.' There is one thing no English government ever will do. They will not surrender the right to build a sufficient number of light cruisers to protect the empire for which they are responsible trustees."

GOV. AL SMITH went down to Buzzards Bay with a party of close friends to rest and play golf, but before departing from New York he issued a cheerful radio address to his fellow Democrats. Admitting his disappointment with the outcome of the election, he yet refused to admit that the defeat had crushed the Democratic party and declared that it must carry on its political fight along the lines and upon the principles it always has stood for and that it should be a constructive rather than a destructive force.

Those principles, he asserted, are as great in defeat as they would have been in victory. Citing the large popular vote he received, he said: "We have the assurance from the election returns that the Democratic party is a live, a vigorous and a forceful major minority party. The existence of such a party is necessary under our system of government."

The governor reminded his hearers that Mr. Hoover would be the President, not of the Republican party, but of the United States of all the people and as such is entitled to all the co-operation of every citizen in the development of a program calculated to promote the welfare and the best interests of this country.

LOUIS J. TARKER, master of the L. National Grange, in addressing the opening session of the annual convention in Washington, urged that congress call a halt on the expenditure of public funds for new reclamation projects. "The government should act with caution in the development of new lands for agricultural production during this period of depression and surplus," Mr. Tarker said. "The grange must fight against appropriations for new irrigation reclamation projects until there is evidence of need for the land for food purposes, or until agriculture again prospers."

The grange is in favor of the export plan of farm relief in preference to the McNary-Haugen bill, which it considers dead.

HIGHWAY officials from nearly every state, in annual convention in Chicago, expressed the belief that there would be an unprecedented expansion and development of improved roads during the Hoover administration, because of the encouragement he gave the movement in his St. Louis speech, and the association asked for a largely increased federal aid appropriation.

STATISTICS made public by the Internal revenue bureau show that 52 individuals entered the $1,000,000 or more income class in 1927 and that the total number in that group was thus brought up to 281. The report shows a marked decrease in the number of persons having incomes up to $100,000 a year and a considerable increase in those reporting higher incomes, as compared with the figures for 1926. There was a big decrease in the gross incomes of corporations.

JULIU MANIU, leader of the Rumanian peasant party, was summoned by the regency council to form a ministry for that disturbed country, and undertook the job, to the great joy of the peasants and workers.

He made up a cabinet and began work by dismissing a lot of lesser officials in different parts of the country, saying he wished to clean Rumania of the Augean stable of its corrupt and dishonest incumbents before the new elections are held so that the Liberals with their huge political machine cannot fairly the returns. All the opposition parties have combined to fight to the death against the Maniu government. This combination is backed by the big corporate interests and says it will spend money freely in the national elections early in December.

Raymond Poincare yielded to persuasion and formed a new ministry for France with himself as premier without portfolio. But he had to leave out the Radical Socialists because they refused to co-operate with him and thus his parliamentary strength is considerably decreased. He also omitted M. Louis Marin, leading opponent of the war debt agreement ratification.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ASA KETTES of Los Angeles pleaded not guilty to charges of bribery and will go on trial, with seven others, on December 5. An interesting feature of this case is the possibility that the Alamo Temple McPherson kidnapping conspiracy matter may be reopened. Witnesses before the grand jury submitted documentary evidence said to have supported allegations that about $300,000 was used in the defense of the evangelist before the district attorney dismissed the charges of conspiracy which were made against her. Over in England, where Alamo has been evangelizing, she denied this story with scornful denial.

usually come back to school with stories of victory or ones of disappointment to tell their fellow students. We expect there will be plenty of venison feeds for Thanksgiving if the high school hunters have anything to say about it.

Everyone is working hard to make the basketball team. There are twenty-seven men out and every one of them is doing his best to get a look of approval from Mr. Cushman.

The English Literature class has just completed the study of Shakespeare's "The Tempest" and are now ready to begin "Hamlet."

The two French classes have been talking some of getting together and having a French banquet. As yet, nothing definite has been done about it.

Work in the chemistry laboratory is progressing. We are all working hard, trying to get caught up in our experiments.

The High School Glee Club sang at the service held at the community church auditorium Sunday evening.

The English Literature students having completed the study of Shakespeare's "The Tempest" are busy making character sketches of their favorite characters.

The U. S. History class has discontinued the study of the election, until the next election. However, we are glad to learn new things about each man that perhaps many of us did not know before.

The Geometry class has a regular debating team. A few of the things that might be heard if you happened in the class: "Why? Well I can't see your point of view at all, well it so and so is so and so, I can't see why that's equal. Why, Mr. Cushman, I know I'm right because I looked it up in Webster's."

Hazel Hunter, a senior of last year, visited us Thursday.

The failure list is posted weekly as usual, with which we are glad to say not as many names as formerly.

The Grayling boys expect to play their first game in basketball with Standish, Dec. 8th.

Last Friday night, November 16th, Grayling High School Debating team met their first opponents in a heated debate at Standish High School. The final outcome was that Standish won the victory at a score of 3-0. Nevertheless, it was a fine debate, as everyone said, and Grayling has high hopes for success in the next one to be held sometime in December.

Among those present to cheer for Grayling were: William Foley, Ernest Lozon, Nels Olson, and Jerome Kessler. After the debate, a very pleasant luncheon was served for the visiting team and its hostesses, which was enjoyed by everyone. During the course of the lunch, Mr. Hill, coach, gave an interesting selection, fitting the occasion admirably. Also, short talks were given by the various judges which cheered us up to such an extent that we felt capable of competing with any debating team in the state. This remains to be seen in our next debate.

The most interesting event of the school year came to a close Wednesday. The student candidates for School Council, and their campaign managers gave their final campaign speeches before the faculty and the student body. The speeches were well planned and well given. This event was well planned and well thought out. It had the real atmosphere of a national campaign. Students after listening to the speeches of the various candidates were counseled to use their own judgment as to whom they voted for.

Voting was held in the afternoon before, after, and between classes. The winning candidates who now help to compose our Grayling High School Student Council, are: Charles Wylie, Lewis Engel, and William Garner, all members of our Senior Class. We wish them luck as our representatives in everything they undertake to do and in the responsibilities they are to assume. The final reports are as follows: William Garner 111, Charles Wylie 117, Lewis Engel 116, Seniors; Eleanor Gorman 86, Lura Ensign 25, Clara Bugby 66.

Wednesday morning there was some excitement in Grayling High School. No one was able to study, and everywhere you could hear the buzz, buzz of excited voices. Among the many students you could see some very nervous candidates, holding their speeches and looking very weak-kneed. Their closest friends would go by and slap them on the back with a cheer up, it won't be so bad as all that! They were getting ready to give their campaign speeches. At last all was ready. Songs were led by Mr. Hill, one of the High School's best singers.

Such songs as "Grayling Down the Field," "Grayling All the Time," etc., were sung with such force that they fairly made the room ring. Mr. Bogue as chairman kept up patient by reading a good poem—"The Foot-path to Peace" by Henry Van Dyke, which was enjoyed by all. Then the candidates made their appearances.

Charles Wylie was first speaker—a candidate for the Senior Class. Effie Hunter, introducing Clara Bugby, a candidate from the Junior Class, was second speaker. The third speaker was Myron Burrows speaking in behalf of the Senior candidates. He voiced his dislike for girls holding the office and gave reasons why he thought the Seniors should be elected.

Lewis Engel spoke for himself, a candidate also from the Senior Class. William Garner, a Senior told his reasons why the Seniors should be elected. Thorwald Sorenson and John Zeder were speakers in behalf of the Senior Class. Elizabeth Matson introduced Eleanor Gorman, who was also a candidate from the Junior Class. Both expressed their thoughts of having some other classes besides the Seniors having some person in the Student Council. Lura Ensign, a Sophomore, who was introduced by Loretta Sorenson, gave a good speech. The last speaker who was also in favor of the Seniors was Billy LaGrow. All the candidates had very good speeches, each promising if elected to do all that they could for the betterment of Grayling High School. After Mr. Bogue explained the ballots, which were to be used that afternoon in the great election, we all went back to work.

The debating team under the coaching of Mr. Hill, held a practice debate with Standish here last Wednesday night. A lunch was served in the domestic science room to the debaters, teachers, and guests. The good and bad points of both teams were discussed.

Grayling High School debating team which consisted of Ellen Gothro, Mary Mahndke and Thorwald Sorenson, was defeated by Standish at Standish on Friday, Nov. 16. The question debated was, "Resolved, that a subsidy for the development of an American Merchant Marine would be a wise national policy." Although Standish had the affirmative side and Grayling the negative, which was the stronger case of the two, the Grayling debaters did not have their speeches learned or memorized, on account of missing so much school during the measles epidemic. The judges stated that Grayling did very well and gave Standish plenty of opposition. Now that Mr. Hill has his team under way, let's all be out to see the next debate at Grayling with East Tawas on Dec. 7, 1928.

As students elected by the student body at large to represent them on the newly formed Student Council, we wish to express our sincere appreciation for the loyal support which was given us.

Charles Wylie, Lewis Engel, William Garner.

The High School boys open their basketball season next Tuesday when they clash with the Alumni. The Alumni promise a very different game than the one they played last year. They have a new player, one that are bound to boost their team's chances. The probable players for the Alumni are: Robertson, Milnes, Hendrickson, LeGrow, E. Brown, N. Stephen, L. Stephan, and Hanson.

Even though the Alumni are confident that they will win, the High School are just as determined that they will not. This game should be the feature of the year.

All boys going deer hunting had to bring excuses from their parents and show their licenses. They were to be back in school Monday morning.

Another week Karl Sherman of the tenth grade was very fortunate in getting one the first day of the season.

The six weeks' exams will be this week. Everyone is expecting to do better than they did the first time. Having exams every six weeks helps us to remember all we have studied much easier than if we had only two exams a semester. Everyone likes the very much.

This is the last week of the second six weeks period and everyone is busy with exams. We certainly are a bored looking bunch of students. Quite a few of us are "burning the midnight oil."

The honor roll for the last month has been made out and posted in the hall.

The English Literature class is about to start the study of the play "Hamlet" by William Shakespeare. Everyone has enjoyed the "Tempest," the last drama that was studied. Everyone in the English Literature class is busy preparing book reports. One is required every six weeks. These book reports teach one to read thoroughly and accurately as several questions are to be answered besides giving a synopsis of the story.

The chemistry classes are getting along very well with their experiments in the Laboratory. Some are rather timid when they hear the various "pops" and smell the strange odors for they are sure they are being killed. Soon they will be working with dangerous chemicals and then is when the fun will start for if you're "killed" it'll be just too bad!

The girls basketball team will play their first game at Boyne City. The girls are working hard to learn new passes.

The Junior class is selling Christmas cards to raise money. They are receiving what they take in. If you have not bought your Christmas cards, let the Junior class sell you some.

Mr. Cushman is making a School Calendar. If you plan to have a party, see him and he will put the date, time, place, and leave a place for the results.

The orchestra is planning to hear the Symphony Orchestra in Detroit, December 18. The Ypsi Glee Club will also be there.

We are all looking forward to the Thanksgiving vacation.

Karl Sherman was one of the first hunters to get his buck. Let's have a French dinner, Karl.

Lewis Konvicka was the janitor while Mr. Neal was hunting.

We are all wondering when Mr. Cushman will have his "Perfect Geometry Book" completed and ready for print. We certainly hope it will be ready for the next Geometry class, because we are positive they appreciate such a "wonderful" book.

Arthur Williams is back after some time spent in nursing his illness. Hazel Hunter visited school again Wednesday morning.

Marshall Sisco is absent because of illness.

Dorothy Hoesli spent the week end visiting friends in Traverse City.

Dorothy May has been elected representative for the Senior Class for the Student Council.

Red Cross Membership Is Sound Investment. Business Leader Says

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction," is the statement of William Butterworth, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in endorsing the twelfth annual roll call of the American Red Cross, Nov. 11-12.

Mr. Butterworth's statement follows: "The men engaged in carrying forward the business and industry of this nation are quick to respond, and respond generously, when human suffering calls for their assistance. They welcome the existence of an organization authorized by international treaty and congressional charter to act as their agency, and the agency of all the people, in providing relief in disaster and promoting their benevolent services to humanity. The nation's business men take particular pleasure in supporting The American National Red Cross because it has applied sound and efficient business technique and administrative methods without sacrifice of sympathy and understanding in the prevention and mitigation of human suffering."

"The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, as representative of the nation's business, has such confidence in the American Red Cross that it calls upon its member organizations to contribute to relief in disaster only upon Red Cross assurance that an appeal is necessary."

"We believe that individual membership in the American Red Cross is a sound investment, yielding the investor tremendous returns in personal satisfaction. The Red Cross is seeking to increase its membership to five million; the opportunity to join its ranks is presented by the Red Cross Chapters throughout the nation from November 11 to 20. It is good to be a link in this great chain of service reaching around the world."

(Signed) WILLIAM BUTTERWORTH, President The Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Beware of the man whose story sounds too good.

Some of the wise old business men can "smell" a crook just as an old-fashioned doctor could "smell" a case man from drawing on March 3, 1928.

in cake recipes with a number of eggs, it is possible to substitute baking powder for one or two of the eggs called for, during the period of egg scarcity. Of course, the cake will not be so rich as when all the eggs are used. Allow one-half teaspoon of baking powder and two tablespoons of milk for each egg omitted. From a half to two-thirds of the eggs called for should be used even when this substitution is practiced.

FREDERIC NEWS Art Cameron of Detroit with some friends is here for a few days hunting for old friends. Harry Troutman, a child here twenty years ago, now a six-footer, spent a few days hunting and eating on old friends. Rev. Cramhall, now of Powerville, was a caller last week end. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Budder of Rogers City passed through here last Wednesday enroute to their home in Saginaw.
